(San Francisco, California) – October 8, 2007. I-Span Networks Inc., a privately held technology and consulting company, has launched two new information avenues in their effort to provide valuable information and resources to expanding network of clients, members and entrepreneurs. I-Span offers business development, project management and resource outsourcing through a highly creative and effective team of entrepreneurs. I-Span Networks has developed a unique approach to bridge the gap between your business opportunities and revenue by utilizing, among other tools, SVTs, or small virtual teams, to provide consulting services throughout the globe. Currently, I-Span has placed teams in Washington, D.C., South Florida, Columbus, and San Francisco. Upcoming cities planned for in the future include: San Diego, Las Vegas, and Seattle.

The first new I-Span communication link is their first blog, www.ispannetworks.wordpress.com, which serves as a communication forum and information source for their many clients, members and future entrepreneur partners. The new blog will be updated frequently in order to share timely project knowledge, business success stories, and technology tips that everyone, regardless of technical expertise, can find useful.

I-Span has also introduced a section of the I-Span Networks website (www.ispannetworks.com/city) devoted to the cities where their small virtual teams have been initiated, and where future teams will be developed. Each separate City page indicates existing or proposed projects, as well as, current I-Span partners, and local technology-based events.

I-Span founding partners Darrel Vaughn and Rod Vaughn are pleased to expand on their vision for I-Span with their proven record of providing professional and knowledgeable support for their clients, members and entrepreneurial partners. I-Span has also expanded into the ebook and streaming media industry with 10 Bull eMedia, which serves as an outlet for creating, promoting and purchasing ebooks and digital media – visit www.10bull.com for more information.

Visit www.ispannetworks.com or call 1- 866-408-5402 to see what this winning team can bring to the table for your business, winning idea, or eMedia needs.
